SBI SO 2024 Know your score

You can calculate your SBI SO Computer-based Test scores based on the number of correct and incorrect answers using the following steps:

- There are two tests in the SBI SO Computer-based Test: General Aptitude (120 marks) and Personal Knowledge Section (150 marks).
- You will receive one mark for each question that is correctly answered in the General Aptitude Test.
- However, in the Personal Knowledge Section, you receive two marks for each question.
- You will, however, lose 0.25 marks for each question you answered wrong.
- Furthermore, a question that is unanswered will not result in a negative mark.

Keep in mind that these steps are intended to provide you with an approximate idea of your score. However, the final merit list will be generated based on the normalized score and several other factors, in accordance with SBI norms.
